The Battle of Isandlwana, during the Anglo-Zulu War of 1879, has been the subject of conjecture and controversy for over 140 years.

Calling on the old Zulu stories of the battle to recreate the events of the day, Andrew Rattray will explain how this battle was won, giving insight to the brave warriors and Zulu chieftains who fought and died in defence of their King and country - as well as those on the British side, thousands of miles from home, who fell to stain the earth with brave men's blood.

Strengths Workshop Plett 2023 Kids ages 10 - 18 years

For too long parents, teachers and society have focused on identifying and fixing "kids" weaknesses to improve academic performance.

What if every child can find success in school, their relationships and life if we start focusing on the strengths they have, rather than on what they lack. Every child is beautiful, talented, and gorgeous. Its just where?

Research shows that only 2 out of 10 people get to play to their strengths. Life is too short to be one of the 8 that get stuck doing what they can just to make it through another day. Be bold and take the step.

Discovering your strengths is a rewarding process if you know what to look for. Every action respectful or defiant, in and out of the classroom, provides an opportunity to discover a person's unique set of strengths. The boy who is scolded for speaking out in class, may have untapped potential for debate. The girl who is more engaged on the tennis court than the classroom may have a hidden knack for physics. A child drawn to one activity or household chore over another is driven by natural inclinations that can be identified and applied to schoolwork.

Dr Ross will show you how to make such connections in everyday life, and in turn help kids implement the strengths they reveal in school, their relationships, life, and future career.

Parents don't we all want our children to be seen and valued for who they are and the unique gifts they bring to this world?

Cost R 900 per student – cost includes psychometric strength assessment, workshop, and parent group feedback. Strength assessment done online prior to workshop.

Date Monday 24 April 6pm-9pm

CHATTERBOX - LIFE AS A PART TIME FARMER

First and most of all is the sudden death of a great friend here in Plett, Grant Butterworth. Such a happy guy and with a lovely wife and two children and he just died at quite a young age for nowadays. Great golfer and party man and always laughing and always with all the boys. They are seriously going to miss him. I never saw him talking much to the girls, but the boys were a different matter, and there he could let rip. Sweet Grant, our friend and chiropractor to all, we are going to miss you at every occasion. I first met him when we arrived in Plett. As usual I needed some kind of medical treatment and his treatment was the answer. We laughed a lot during that first treatment, I told him that he good easily flatten me with his strong hands. His little girl used to wander into the room and chat to me, when I was in the recovery room. One needed that time after Grant's medical bashing. Eventually he became too strong for my small frame and I moved to physiotherapist. Nice and gentle. How does someone so big and so strong, just suddenly have a heart attack. Travel well Grantie Boy. Loved by everyone my darling. Feels strange to be thinking about chatter-box again. It used to be part of my life thinking of things to talk about. Did I tell you that Beloved now has a little tree farm as a hobby which he loves. Actually they are not little trees they are huge and they are called Polonius. They grow extremely fast and the wood in weight is almost as light as balsa-wood. The Colour of the wood is almost like a pinkish/white colour and is very hard wood, used a lot for making furniture because of its beauty.

When he first bought the saplings and had his piece of land, he was there all the time and he loved it. Now staff is very expensive and they need permanent supervision it's not easy when he has his own business or should I say his real business to run. He actually prefers to be a farmer. He doesn't go there much anymore because of time and money. I planned a little surprise for him and have found a friend, an ex farmer, to help me there and bring it back to it's former glory. Of course the weather has not been kind and the trees need lots of water, and actually TLC. He used to show his little farm to everyone, but not over the last few months. He's away in Johannesburg at the moment so I have taken the bull by the horns. My horror is the puff adders living there. Lots of love to all my old and new fans.

A word fitly spoken is like APPLES OF GOLD in a setting of silver-Proverbs 25v11

Over the past weeks we have discussed the conflict that is constantly taking place between our natural will, called the flesh in the Bible, and our spiritual character, which is being developed by the Holy Spirit as explained in the Book of Galatians chapter 5 from verse 19-22.

Today we contrast fits of rage and selfish ambition with two of the fruits of the Spirit namely kindness and goodness. We are all guilty of fits of rage from time to time and hopefully we are embarrassed when we behave like that. Maybe we have tried to justify our actions by claiming extreme provocation or even our genes. Christ's disciples John and James were so fiery that they were called sons of thunder, yet they changed and John even became known as the apostle of love. So, if you think your natural character is impossible to change you are mistaken - because the Holy Spirit can perform a miracle if you surrender your will to Him. He won't leave a vacuum in your personality, but instead replace fits of rage by kindness which will change your life and those who are closest to you. In addition, your life will have real purpose and meaning.

Selfish ambition is the cause of so much negative impact on family, society and friends. It is characterized by the "big I" - my way, my comfort, my importance, my power, my everything. There is nothing wrong with ambition itself, but it must be accompanied by goodness and not cruelty. Goodness never takes advantage of others, but rather is selfless in its interaction with others. Some practical acts of goodness involve sharing time and resources with family, friends and those in the wider community who are less fortunate. It may also mean confronting someone about wrongful behaviour, though only after we have earned the right to do so by our interest and involvement with that person.

Plettenberg Bay has been described as paradise - imagine what it would be if all its population were known as people of goodness and kindness
God Bless, Graeme Greenwood
