PAWS are happy to announce their fourth Glorious Music Concert when the talented and popular Trio de Musique from Cape Town will delight Plett audiences with a new repertoire of marvellous music. This time, the renowned flautist, Thomas de Bruyn, and his equally well known collegage, pianist his equally well-known colleague, pianist Albert Combrinck, will be joined by a new member of the Trio, Graham du Plessis. Graham completed his BMus (Hons) at the University of Birmingham and then studied at the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama where he obtained his MMus. He performs regularly with the Cape Philharmonic and is the cello lecturer at the of University of Cape Town. The Trio de Musique are all highly qualified professional musicians, and they look forward to performing a selection of works guaranteed to delight everyone – timeless classics, beautiful melodies from stage and his equally well-known colleague, pianist classics, beautiful melodies from stage and screen, some modern works and a bit of jazz thrown in. No Glorious Music Concert will be complete without a Piazzolo tango! dotsure.co.za Pet Insurance are sponsoring the Trio de Musique this year. JUMPING CASTLE & Water Slide for hire. Anneré 082 499 1563 Chatterbox - Johannesburg

I have been back from my Johannesburg for three days and let me tell you I am still exhausted. I suppose I should learn that at my grand old age I should not be doing the kind of things I did at forty

I went to help my oldest daughter to put her house back in order after she had left her big house (too expensive) and downgraded to a very compact place in Fairlands. I had never heard of it, but I sure got to know it. I slept at my youngest daughter's house at night, lovely clean bedding and cool, calm and collected household compared to Bears madhouse. The owners of Bears complex, in their wisdom, had painted the units inside and outside in a shitty dark brown. The WHOLE complex. To get there I had to Uber twice a day and sometimes three times a day. The agent said that the owner liked all his units in that colour and did not allow people to change it, so maybe it was my vibrant personality or the face that he was sitting watching his 2 month old premature son in the ICU but I got him to agree. I could not believe my eyes went I first saw the inside; it was darker than a mouldy old cave and had only three medium sized window/doors and three miniscule ones. It is three bedroomed and has a lounge come dining room and open plan kitchen. The lounge is to the left as you go in and has three long dark walls with no windows. The other space opens to the dark dining/ kitchen. Terrible beyond speech. I only had seven sleeps there, so needed to get painters to start immediately. I interviewed three the same day, quite a miracle to do in one day and then got my chosen one to start the next morning. I had to supply the paint, so I had to Uber through to Makro and dash it back to her house before going home for Next day the painters were there, but the house was a complete upside down state, as she had moved during a working day and she holds down three jobs, so her children had to move everything in. Things were just chucked into all three kids and Bears cupboards, so that was my main job for the next few days. Sort, refold, put in the right room, take other things out of the wrong places and put them in the right places, and then two days on cleaning and re-packing her kitchen. Had to borrow my youngest daughter's gardener, as that was complete chaos and no garden to speak of. I had to collect him in an Uber and luckily one of the painters was also a landscaper and he gave our guy a lot of ideas. The garden looked quite splendid and shit and bone free at the end of the day. All these things wore me out completely and I couldn't wait to Uber back to Sarah's calm house at the end of the day. Bear and her children also have one pug. one Maltese, one Labrador and a Parrot, so you must know about all the fur and feathers blowing around so Sarah would not allow me to sleep there because of my asthma, but on the second last day I had introduced Bear to the sticky roller that removes pet hair easily plus a proper vacuum cleaner so I was allowed to spend one night with her. It was lovely and bonding and divine.

At the end of that lot I was positively feeling like death, and the painters were still there, but the white inside was looking so good and I was so tired I couldn't wait to get back to Plett. Did see my two sons and their wives briefly on the Sunday afternoon but they were all suffering from Vine flu from their party the previous evening so it was not the usual twenty hour party. Love you my kids all of you.

That's Chatterbox for now, see you next week.

LETS STAND TOGETHER AND PROTECT OUR PRECIOUS PLETT KIDS!!!

We read and hear about child abuse almost daily and not in far off places, but on our own doorstep. Are incidences on the increase or is a higher level of awareness being created by social media? Whatever the case may be, parents will have to step in and provide their children with the ability to recognise dangerous situations and also how to deal with it. Most cases of abuse results at the hands of the adults that are already well known to the children. In many cases children are abused by adults whom they not only trust but also love, resulting in confusion for the children especially when they're abused by adults who are supposed to be worthy of their trust. Therefore, when they're Following are some important tips that parents can follow in order to prevent child abuse.

One of the most important things we can teach our children is "NO" If they grow up with the world (in a positive way) and they know that there are boundaries saying "no" when it is necessary will come easy for them.

Communication – As important as the above, but sadly does not exist in most of houses, regardless it being a shack or mansion Children must learn to share their ideas, routine, and emotions with parents

Communication plays a stronger key in understanding your child's behaviour as well as their daily routine.

It is vitally important that parents know who their friends are and even more important getting to know their friend's parents Know what your child's interest are and talk to them about it. Show interest! If there is a clear channel of communication between child and parent and something happens to the child he/she will be more willing to talk than where there

Social media

meet and interact with others who share similar interests

communicate with educators and fellow students

What's bad about social media? Most teens:

Post photos of themselves online or use their real names on their profiles and photos, videos, and comments made online usually can't be taken back once they're posted. Even when a teen thinks something has been deleted, it can impossible to completely erase it from the Internet.

Posting an inappropriate photo can damage a reputation and cause problems years later — such sending a mean-spirited text, even as a joke, can be very hurtful to someone else and even taken as a threat

Posting their school name and the town where they live

Reveal their birthdates and interests Besides problems like cyberbullying and online predators, kids also can face the possibility of a physical encounter with the wrong person. Many newer apps automatically reveal the poster's location when they're used. This can tell anyone exactly where to find the person using the app.
This can make them easy targets for online predators and others who might mean them harm

Parents, do you know that most teenagers say that they have :

been contacted online by someone they didn't know in a way that made them feel scared or uncomfortable received online advertising that was inappropriate for their age lied about their age to get access to websites

Children have rights, also a right to privacy, but how far do we allow that privacy?

Young children should not have access to cellophanes should they be provided with a cell phone, nothing more than a basic 'hello and good buy' is necessary

Cell phones should be checked Computers use should be monitored It's important to be aware of what your kids do online. But snooping can alienate them and damage the trust you've built together. The key is to stay involved in a way that makes your kids understand that you respect their privacy but want to make sure they're safe.

Tell your kids that it's important to: Be nice. Mean behaviour is not OK. Make it clear that you expect your kids to treat others with respect, and to never post hurtful or embarrassing messages. And ask them to always tell you about any harassing or bullying messages that others post.

Think twice before hitting

"enter." Remind teens that what they post can be used against them. For example, letting the world know that you're off on vacation or posting your home address gives would-be robbers a chance to strike. Teens also should avoid posting specific locations of parties or events, as well as phone

Follow the "WWGS?" (What Would Grandma Say?) rule. Teach kids not to share anything on social media that they wouldn't want their teachers, college admissions officers, future bosses — and yes, grandma — to see.

Use privacy settings. Privacy settings are important. Go through them together to make sure your kids understand each one. Also, explain that passwords are there to protect them against things like identity theft. They should never share them with anyone, even a boyfriend, girlfriend, or best friend.

Don't "friend" strangers. "If you don't know them, don't friend them." This is a plain, simple — and safe — rule of thumb. Parents also can help keep kids grounded in the real world by putting limits on media use. Keep computers in public areas in the house, avoid laptops and smartphones in bedrooms, and set some rules on the use of technology (such as no devices at the dinner table).

And don't forget: Setting a good example through your own virtual behaviour can go a long way toward helping your kids use social media safely.

PAWS presents an evening of glorious music again!

PAWS are happy to announce their fourth Glorious Music Concert marvellous music.

This will be an exceptional evening at Ouland Royale, the perfect venue for this annual musical event. This time, the renowned flautist, Thomas de Bruyn, and his equally well-known colleague, pianist Albert Combrinck, will be joined by a new member of the Trio, Graham du Plessis. Graham completed his BMus (Hons) at the University of Birmingham and then studied at the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama where he obtained his MMus. He performs regularly with the Cape Philharmonic and is the cello lecturer at the

of University of Cape Town.
The Trio de Musique are all highly qualified professional musicians, and they look forward to performing a selection of works guaranteed to delight everyone – timeless classics, beautiful melodies from stage and screen, some modern works and a bit of jazz thrown in. No Glorious Music Concert will be complete without a Piazzolo tango! dotsure.co.za Pet Insurance are sponsoring the Trio de Musique this year. They are much more than a pet insurance provider - they are born innovators and animal lovers, and a special team of people who are already very active in animal welfare on the Garden Route - a perfect match with PAWS!

As always, our guests will enjoy a ClemenGold Gin cocktail on arrival and Wilja Reitz has promised more of her superb canapes so no-one will go hungry! There will be a special raffle for a great prize and some lucky draws.
