Chatterbox

– born to be nice

Some people are just born nice, aren't they? I had to buy my hairdresser her own crockery for her shop, can't tell you why, but I was out hunting for an inexpensive nice set. Ended up in Pep and the manager Jackson was so incredibly helpful and we ended up laughing our heads off, but he gave me an excellent bargain, his lady assistant had helped me earlier on but found me too difficult and so got the manager. What a nice couple, really know how to treat a difficult customer. Then on the other hand you have the other side of the coin, these two mass murders in the USA this weekend. Both done by evil minded young men. One with a history of hate and murderous thoughts and he still managed to buy a machine gun there so as to do his evil deed. Definitely guns are a big problem there and somethings needs to be done. There are many gun free countries. My gardener Bongani's little girl, of whom he is extremely proud, was rushed to Kansan's hospital on Saturday, so all my plans for yesterday were put on hold, because I needed to know what was wrong as his description was "she was fainting". That was not possible at a year and a half. So much against my will I drove to the hospital, I am terrified of that road, and then I had a major argument with their security as he wanted to cross question me about my motives etc. I eventually lost it and they let me in. I pushed my way right through to the children's ward with everyone staring at me in disbelief as it was not 'visiting hour' Eventually I got hold of the cutest Doctor Luke Das Neves, and he told me that she was seizing many times on Saturday morning from a severe Upper Respiratory Inflammation. Her temp was sky high and they really got her there just in time. Anyway she was in a lovely ward with lots of other kiddies and will be returning home shortly. Must have been very scary for the parents. You see I am born to be nice. Chatterbox

It is with a profound sense of personal loss and sadness that we wish to inform you that passed away on Monday morning 5th August 2019 in Israel.

Danny Varkel

His funeral will take place in Israel Tuesday 6th August 2019 on Kibbutz Hannaton at 17:30

We take comfort with the fact that due to the outpouring of generosity and support we were able to give Danny the best chance of combating this dreadful disease. Sadly his condition was beyond medical intervention.

Not only were we able to fly him to Israel for his treatment but we also ensured that his wife, Monique and two children were able to see him before he passed away.

Danny was loved by all who knew him.
Our thoughts are with Barry, Roleen, Jarred, Gaby, Monique and their respective families.

Thank you to all those who supported the family during this very difficult time.
Kind regards, Johnny Amoils & Stacey Aaron

♥ Daniel Varkel will definitely be sorely missed. ♥

PAWS Heroes of the Month

During the recent riots, PAWS was prevented from gaining access to our kennels on the N2 near Ebenezer. This meant that our kennel animals could not be fed or cared for. Lynne Clarke initiated a rescue operation and soon we had several volunteers willing to find a way to evacuate the animals. Louise Auersperg, who is familiar with back routes, lead the rescue convoy on a real bundu bash through the undergrowth to reach the kennels. After the animals were evacuated safely, they were welcomed by several kind people who were happy to foster them until it was safe for them to return to the kennels. Anneke Smith took in all the cats while Heather Pieterse, Shelley Randon and Marie Campbell helped with the dogs. Roy Monk, Ian Barnard and Gail Smith, Marilee Pretorius and Brett Leppan came to the rescue with their 4 X 4 vehicles. PAWS are hugely grateful to every single one of you. You are all our deserving heroes for August

DIFFERENTLY- ABLED AWARENESS CAMPAIGN

- Accessibility

Doorways at entrances to businesses, reception areas and more:-

Difficult to say with complete accuracy just what the width of doors and entrances should be as wheelchair designs differ but they must certainly be accessible for all types, then there are other factors to consider, children for instance, how are they to cope? walkers, crutches, battery-operated scooters? The older type doors, 80cm in width when opened, are just not wide enough.

About battery-operated mobility scooters, now that is worth a mention, was told donkey's years ago that they would require indicators, brake lights, reflectors and a number plate or else there would be a heavy penalty!! It ended up in a consultation with a well-respected local attorney who gave us the verdict, (after a day of anxiety) that it was totally incorrect, the law stated it was below a certain weight and also required for mobility so could not be penalised in this way. Needless to say those were the days when there were no ramps to the banks, supermarket or shops and it was necessary to wait outside for the goods after a phone call giving the estimated time of arrival, sitting in fear hoping that you would be seen and would not end up under a reversing vehicle!! It gave us great pleasure to advise the traffic officer accordingly.

Inaccessible door hardware can also prevent access to businesses, many people with mobility disabilities also those with a disability that limits grasping, such as arthritis, find it impossible to open doors with round door knobs as these require tight grasping and twisting to operate also a handle with a thumb latch, these should be replaced with a lever handle. A flat panel-type pull handle can be replaced with a loop-type handle where possible.

If there is a separate entrance for the disabled which is generally kept locked for security reasons, there must be an adequately sized platform at the top of the ramp with an accessible call system, a telephone number to call for attention or else the car guard or security staff outside could be trained to alert those at the main entrance. The second entrance should be clearly indicated.

Turnstiles exclude people with disabilities be it wheelchairs, walkers, crutches, canes or scooters. A second opening should be provided where possible or widen the aisle at one of the check-out counters with the necessary signage where a Differently-Abled person can enter with dignity. I have introduced the DAB initiative to most supermarkets in this area, the staff should be trained to observe the customers when they enter and should it be an elderly person who looks as if they may need assistance, a disabled one, someone on crutches, whatever, they should offer their polite, friendly assistance, help them into the store, walk with them and fill their trollies, taken them through the checkout area, be by their side with their trollies to their vehicles, unpack their purchases and then offer to open the car door. This is the Differently-Abled Buddy, DAB initiative, remember to ask for a Differently-Abled Buddy if you are not spotted, if the staff do not know about it, get the Manager!! In this way they will be reminded. Good for business, so let us all make people including tourists Aware that Plett is the most friendly, Differently-Abled place on the Garden Route and for that matter in the Western Cape!!

Green Hearts

LET'S STAND TOGETHER AND PROTECT OUR PRECIOUS PLETT KIDS!!!

We read and hear about child abuse almost daily and not in far off places, but on our own doorstep. Are incidences on the increase or is a higher level of awareness being created by social media? Whatever the case may be, parents will have to step in and provide their children with the ability to recognise dangerous situations and also how to deal with it. Most cases of abuse result at the hands of the adults that are already well known to the children. In many cases children are abused by adults whom they not only trust but also love, resulting in confusion for the children especially when they're abused by adults who are supposed to be worthy of their trust. Therefore, when they're following are some important tips that parents can follow in order to prevent child abuse.

One of the most important things we can teach our children is "NO" If they grow up with the world (in a positive way) and they know that there are boundaries saying "no" when it is necessary will come easy for them.

Communication – As important as the above, but sadly does not exist in most of houses, regardless it being a shack or mansion
Children must learn to share their ideas, routine, and emotions with parents Communication plays a stronger key in understanding your child's behaviour as well as their daily routine.

It is vitally important that parents know who their friends are and even more important getting to know their friend's parents Know what your child's interest are and talk to them about it. Show interest!
If there is a clear channel of communication between child and parent and something happens to the child he/she will be more willing to talk than where there is no communication.

Where kids are and what they do must be general knowledge to parents

Social media

- can help kids:
stay connected with friends and family enhance their creativity by sharing ideas, music, and art meet and interact with others who share similar interests communicate with educators and fellow students

What's bad about social media?

Most teens:

Post photos of themselves online or use their real names on their profiles and photos, videos, and comments made online usually can't be taken back once they're posted. Even when a teen thinks something has been deleted, it can be impossible to completely erase it from the Internet.

Posting an inappropriate photo can damage a reputation and cause problems years later — such sending a mean-spirited text, even as a joke, can be very hurtful to someone else and even taken as a threat

Posting their school name and the town where they live

Reveal their birthdates and interests

Besides problems like cyberbullying and online predators, kids also can face the possibility of a physical encounter with the wrong person. Many newer apps automatically reveal the poster's location when they're used. This can tell anyone exactly where to find the person using the app.

This can make them easy targets for online predators and others who might mean them harm.

Parents, do you know that most teenagers say that they have :

been contacted online by someone they didn't know in a way that made them feel scared or uncomfortable received online advertising that was inappropriate for their age lied about their age to get access to websites

Children have rights, also a right to privacy, but how far do we allow that privacy?

Young children should not have access to cellphones should they be provided with a cell phone, nothing more than a basic 'hello and good buy' is necessary

Cell phones should be checked
Computers use should be monitored
It's important to be aware of what your kids do online. But snooping can alienate them and damage the trust you've built together.
The key is to stay involved in a way that makes your kids understand that you respect their privacy but want to make sure they're safe.

Tell your kids that it's important to:

Be nice. Mean behaviour is not OK. Make it clear that you expect your kids to treat others with respect, and to never post hurtful or embarrassing messages. And ask them to always tell you about any harassing or bullying messages that others post.

Think twice before hitting

"enter." Remind teens that what they post can be used against them. For example, letting the world know that you're off on vacation or posting your home address gives would-be robbers a chance to strike. Teens also should avoid posting specific locations of parties or events, as well as phone numbers.

Follow the "WWGS?" (What Would Grandma Say?) rule. Teach kids not to share anything on social media that they wouldn't want their teachers, college admissions officers, future bosses — and yes, grandma — to see.

Use privacy settings. Privacy settings are important. Go through them together to make sure your kids understand each one. Also, explain that passwords are there to protect them against things like identity theft. They should never share them with anyone, even a boyfriend, girlfriend, or best friend.

Don't "friend" strangers. "If you don't know them, don't friend them." This is a plain, simple — and safe — rule of thumb. Parents also can help keep kids grounded in the real world by putting limits on media use. Keep computers in public areas in the house, avoid laptops and smartphones in bedrooms, and set some rules on the use of technology (such as no devices at the dinner table).

And don't forget: Setting a good example through your own virtual behaviour can go a long way toward helping your kids use social media safely.

This article was posted by THE GREEN HEARTS, an organisation fighting child abuse and assisting parents and children that has been abused.

The 176 000 hectare
Greater Addo Elephant National Park is the third largest National Park in Southern Africa.
The variety of wildlife found in the Park is astounding, with 417 species of birds, 95 kinds of mammals, including the Big 5
and of course the 600 elephants that roam there,
it is an absolute treat for nature lovers.

MORNING GAME DRIVE

Collection from Guest House in Summer-Strand P.E between 06h00 - 06h30

Duration of Game Drive 07h00 - 12h00
We enter the Park through the Addo Colchester Gate, Camp Matyholweni. The first few hours are good to see antelope, zebra and some of the cats. Between 09h00 and 09h30 we serve a delicious continental breakfast in the picnic area. Usually one has good sightings of elephants and buffalo after 10h00 nearer the waterholes. We return to the Gate around 12h00 and then back to the Guest House. Refreshments are available throughout the drive.

AFTERNOON GAME DRIVE

Collection from Guest House in Summer-Strand P.E between 13h00 - 13h30

Duration of Game Drive 14h00 - 18h00
We enter the Park through the Addo Colchester Gate, Camp Matyholweni. The early afternoon is good for elephant and buffalo sightings, near the water holes, as well as some antelope and zebra. We stop mid-afternoon at a disembarkment point or picnic area for teas, coffee, refreshments, scones and snacks. The latter part of the afternoon is usually good for antelope and the illusive rhino. The Park has thick bush and offers an abundance of birds, tortoise, dung beetles and other creatures.

drive and narration will be done by our very knowledgeable guides.
