PAWS Heroes

This month our thanks go to Allison Bryant and the Plett Carpet Cleaners' team for providing a brilliant free valet service to both the PAWS vehicles. Our vehicles are real workhorses, fetching and carrying dogs and cats and other stuff and do not often have the time off to be cleaned properly, so this was a very welcome and overdue service. We are very grateful and hail you as our heroes!

UnCommon Sense
By Rose Scott
True Wealth

In a world that values people based on what they own it is easy to lose sight of what true wealth is. Some of the best times that I have had in life have been on holiday, not in five star hotels, but in almost rustic self-catering places where the focus is on enjoying time with those that you love. I think that the reason for this is that when all the unnecessary clutter is removed from our daily routine we are able to "see the woods for the trees" and grasp what is in front of us each day, we often fail to see that our interpersonal relationships are our true riches.

Having recently read an inspiring book "Three Cups of Tea" (based on true events) the protagonist in the book, Greg Mortimer, builds schools for the rural tribes in northern Pakistan. He is of the opinion that the lessons that the West could learn from these seemingly primitive (by Western standards) people about contentment, working together towards a common goal and enjoying the simple pleasures of life far outweigh what the "civilised" world could teach these tribes about increasing financial wealth and utilisation of resources. This is also seen in modern families where two working parents continually feel stressed by increasing pressure to not only provide the necessities for their family such as food, shelter, education, and medical care, but to "keep up with the Jones" in terms of material possessions. Children place far greater value on time and experiences shared than they do on the latest "gizmo", but when you are tired and have had a long day pleasing everyone else it seems easier to give in than give. Choosing to take time out, switch off your phone and laptop, avoid the TV and take a walk or have a picnic with family and friends would have a far better outcome, not only in the short term.

Material wealth cannot be taken with you when you depart this life, but memories, teaching worthwhile values and treasuring relationships with your family mean that "to live on in the hearts left behind means to not die."

Create a living legacy by prioritising true wealth – invest time and energy in those that you love. It is like throwing a stone into a pond, the ripples can be seen for generations to come.

A word fitly spoken is like APPLES OF GOLD in a setting of silver-Proverbs 25v11

Today we continue our studies on wisdom in the Book of Proverbs chapter 13 and look at verse 23-"The hearts of the wise make their mouths prudent and their lips promote instruction. Gracious words are a honeycomb, sweet to the soul and healing to the bones". Don't you want to be someone whose words enrich your hearers? Words that not only heal, but words that are sweet and leave the hearers with a craving for more? People who are healers of broken souls and speak words that bring joy and love into those we interact with. Gracious words that add value to the hearer are the outcome of righteous hearts that are guided by Godly wisdom. In our materialistic, secular and competitive society it is not easy to be gracious in defeat and not be condescending in victory so we need a spiritual perspective. 55 years ago the world was astounded when Dr Chris Barnard did a heart transplant which was previously thought impossible. Spiritually God can do the impossible by doing a heart transplant on us if we recognise that we have a sinful, diseased heart and submit to His surgery -"I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh"-Ezekiel 36v26. But maybe you consider that your heart is already a heart of flesh-you are kind, generous and loving. Friends it is all a question of perception. To God "all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God"-Romans 3v23. Even the righteous Pharisee Nicodemus was told he needed to be "born again" or have a spiritual heart transplant. But maybe you know somebody who has been "born again" and you are not impressed with their level of honesty, love, joy, compassion, etc and are put off Christianity as a result. What you have experienced is their old nature trying to reject the new heart and the immunosuppressant medication (God's Word and Holy Spirit) takes time to fight the rejection. All I can say is look at them differently and be thankful that they have a new heart because if they still had their old heart of stone they would be absolutely intolerable, nasty and selfish people. Hopefully with time they will mellow as they adjust to their new heart and embrace the truths in the Bible and allow the Holy Spirit to develop in their lives His fruits of love, joy, patience, etc. Don't judge Christianity by the lifestyle of some Christians, but rather look at the life of Christ whose words and actions brought healing to all He came into contact with.
