REGULATIONS FOR DOGS ON BEACHES

Non compliance a problem

PAWS is concerned to note that many people are still ignoring the new regulations for dogs on beaches. Dr Mark Brown and the Nature's Valley Trust (NVT) #SharetheShores initiative came up with a win-win solution aimed at protecting our wildlife on beaches, maintaining our blue-flag beaches and accommodating beach goers and dog walkers.

It is disappointing to note that some people are still walking dogs leash free on the sensitive Lookout Beach where NVT have been trying to protect the breeding grounds of White-fronted Plovers, African Black Oyster Catchers and other species. NVT's analysis of the breeding success rate of the vulnerable White-fronted Plover has shown an increase on both Lookout (from 12,7% to 14,3%) and Nature's Valley (from 15,2% to 30,5%), from the previous season. NVT are grateful to those who are complying with the new regulations

PAWS supports these regulations as they are designed to accommodate everyone's needs and we appeal to everyone to respect our bye laws to avoid stricter regulations.

The following information was supplied by PAWS and NVT:

Robberg Beach Area

From Beacon Isle Resort to Robberg 5 Beach - NO DOGS (Red zone)

From Robberg 5 Beach to Sanctuary Beach - DOGS ON LEASHES (Orange zone)

From Sanctuary Beach to The Wreck Beach - LEASH FREE (Green zone)

Beacon Isle/ Central Beach Area - NO

Children's Fear

As adults, we know that life can sometimes seem like a maze filled with danger, anxiety, disaster and heartache lurking around every corner. Almost every day we are faced with situations that elicit fear, of varying degree. Fortunately, as adults we have acquired tools to understand and regulate these fears. These tools however are not developed in adulthood. At 4 months, babies can already distinguish between different emotions; and at age 5, children become aware that emotions, such as fear, can be regulated.

But how is your child regulating fear?

And how can you help?

You can begin by talking to them about fear.

This is important, as your child will feel supported and safe. Ideally, fear should be acknowledged, regulated and released.

Talking about fear in this way also gives you the opportunity to determine how serious or concerning their fear is - only fears that persist or interfere with a child's life should be considered abnormal.

Typical fears according to developmental stages:

Toddlers: separation, noises, falling, animals and insects, using the potty, bathing and bedtime.

Pre-school children: fear of animals and insects, monsters and ghosts, getting lost, divorce,

loss of a parent, and bedtime.

Primary school children: separation, noises, falling, new situations (especially starting school) and bedtime in younger children; social rejection, war, new situations, and burglars in older children.

Adolescents: burglars, new situations (going to college, etc.), war, divorce, and sexual relations.

You can support your child by respecting and listening to their feelings and fears. Allow them to describe and explain the fear, without judging or disregarding their experience.

Teach your children how to deal with fear - start off by acknowledging it. Regardless of what they are afraid of and why, to them it is real. Emphasise that it's not wrong to be afraid or fearful. In an appropriate context, explain to your children how you as an adult can relate to feeling unsure, scared or fearful.

Understand the fear - fear is ultimately a way or need to protect yourself from a potential risk, and an attempt to take care of yourself. Fear tells you that something doesn't feel or isn't right.

Try not to be overprotective by allowing your child to avoid all of the things that they are afraid of. And try not to overreact - this might reinforce and worsen the fear.

However, avoid forcing your child to face their fears - a hidden threat may still be present.

Determine the level or seriousness of the fear. If your child's fear is persistent, influences their functioning, elicits concerning behaviour such as bedwetting/soiling, avoidance, panic, recurring nightmares, to name a few - ask for help. Be aware of potential risks and sources of fear in and around your home, school and social environments. Do as much as you can to provide your child with a safe and comfortable space wherever they may be. They deserve it.

For further support with your child's experience of fear and/or other behavioural concerns, contact Erika Revington, Educational Psychologist (HPCSA Reg No: PS0130451), Plettenberg Bay. 076 225 2204 / erikarevington@gmail.com

Derek John Ritson

Our darling husband and father died peacefully in hospital on the 12th January with his wife and son at his side.

There will not be a memorial as most of the family are spread across the world.

He will be missed always, leaving behind many wonderful memories of good times in Pretoria, England, Johannesburg and Plettenberg Bay.

Rest in peace.

PAWS

Heroes of the Month

For many years it has been the PAWS mission to combat the scourge of fireworks in our town. Although fireworks are illegal in Plett, we continue to experience the destructive effect of their use on our domestic and wild animals, as well as on our properties, over the festive season. We were therefore enormously grateful to The Grand Hotel and the Lookout Deck for generously sponsoring a laser show to be viewed from Central Beach. This was a very welcome departure from the usual (sanctioned), noisy fireworks display to herald the New Year. We can report that PAWS had fewer emergencies, and dogs in town were far less traumatised. We regret that a large number of illegal fireworks were set off in Kwano, and we hope to reduce their sale and use in that area in future. The Grand Hotel and Lookout Deck are our Heroes for January and we thank them for setting an excellent example by showing that we can celebrate without causing harm. They have committed themselves to a three-year sponsorship of silent fireworks, or another laser show, in collaboration with the Bitou Municipality. PAWS thanks The Grand and Lookout teams for their valued contribution to our community.
