Jeanne Elizabeth van der Gaast
(18th September 1973-11th January 2022)

Born in Johannesburg on the 18th of September 1973 Jeanne Elizabeth van der Gaast could not wait to come into the world. She arrived at just 32 weeks via emergency c-section fighting for her life, weighing just over 500 grams with her twin brother Nicholas just behind her. A beautiful sunny red headed child with a glint in her blue eyes had arrived in the world and nothing was going to tame that spirit.

Jeanne attended IR Griffiths Primary School, Blairgowrie High School and Eden College. School was a terrible battle for Jeanne as she was severely dyslexic however she did not let this stop her and after passing matric she went onto College where she successfully completed her courses at the Pitman Institute and then went on to study to become a Nursery School teacher. Jeanne loved horse riding and spent hours mucking out stables, riding her mother's horse and as a young woman spent many an hour breaking in enormous horses that towered over and fearless Jeanne would not give up on a horse until the beast submitted to her, both frightening and awe inspiring to watch.

She may have battled with her studies but socially she excelled and the house was always filled with the laughter of her friends, many who she still calls a friend to this day. Jeanne worked at a nursery school in Johannesburg for a time but her love for the ocean was intense and even though studying was hard for her she attended and successfully passed all her courses at Ocean Sailing Academy in Durban and was fortunate to crew quite a few voyages around the South African coast.

Plett was her other big love and she started working for Simon Ash at Brothers Restaurant and when he had had enough of her wildness she went off to Moby's Restaurant and worked for Di and Henk Visser whilst also convincing the late Lloyd Chapman that she would make an excellent whale boat tour guide and she was right, she loved it and her customers loved her and then back to Simon. She split her time between guiding for both Ocean Blue and Ocean Safaris, getting her skippers license, sailing around the coast, waitressing and partying up a storm in the local pubs and then came the greatest love of her life – Merrick. He changed her life and she could finally fulfil the greatest yearning in her heart; love and raise her own child.

In order to spend as much time raising Merrick she opened up her Dusky Dolphins Aftercare at the Plett house and probably did everyone's homework every day. She continued to work for Simon at the Fat Fish to supplement her income and completed wine courses and helped him promote his restaurant with total dedication.

Jeanne was diagnosed with Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis also known as Motor Neuron Disease and this overwhelmed her and took her completely off her axle. Jeanne was unable to accept this and refused to burden Merrick and her family with what was to come and decided it was time to go. Larger than life; a devoted mother, sister, aunt and a selfless friend who loved everyone she came into contact with, Jeanne believed that as much as life is a gift she was going to handle her disease her own way just like she did with everything in her life.

We thank each one of you for loving her and like us we know that each of you are better for having had the honour of knowing her. May she always be a blessing.

(I would like to extend my eternal gratitude to the following people in Plett with special thanks – Merrick van der Gaast Purdon, Herman Williamson, Amber-Jayde and Trent Ollewagen, Simon Ash, Naedene Waring, Kira Primo, Mark Jeffrey, Arnie Cilliers, Marcia Katz, Lauren Carr, Cindy Truyens, Jossy Young, Wendy and Mark Lockwood, Otto Oliver who just did what needed to be done with love and compassion, Brian Gordon and Sally Turner, WO James and the SAPS, Smart Alarms, the ambulance and the forensic pathologists who were all so kind and especially to my very good friend Tim Clarke who endured so much of her over the last few months, who carried her coffee upstairs, cried with her, shouted at her and with her and just loved her as best he could, who made it possible for Merrick to have a break and who had to break the dreaded news to me as gently as possible and who shielded our Merrick as much as possible on the night she left us. You Tim Clarke are the legend in this story and I am eternally grateful.)

The memorial service for Jeanne Elizabeth van der Gaast

will take place on

A word fitly spoken is like APPLES OF GOLD in a setting of silver-Proverbs 25v11

The Book of Acts chapter 24 records the discussion between the Apostle Paul and the Roman Governor, Felix, on why he was imprisoned. Instead of complaining Paul took the opportunity to share the gospel with Felix and we read in verse 25 "But as Paul was discussing righteousness, self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix became frightened and responded, "Go away for now, and when I have an opportunity, I will summon you." What is this judgement Paul warned Felix about? We get help from when "the judgement" is first mentioned in Scripture-Psalm 1v5 Therefore the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous. For the LORD watches over the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked leads to destruction. So we notice 3 things -firstly that the wicked will not be able to stand. In a court of law the accused stands before the judge and pleads his case, but at the judgement at the end of time the wicked will be speechless and will instead kneel in submission as we read in Philippians 2v10 "that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth". Secondly we read that the way of the wicked is destruction. Christ spoke more about hell than heaven because God wants us all to know that "the judgement" is real and terrifying. In Revelation 20v15 we read "Anyone whose name was not found written in the book of life was thrown into the lake of fire". The third point we should notice is that God is watching which "way" we choose-His way or our way. This choice determines what is the outcome of "the judgement"-is it heaven or hell? Friends don't procrastinate like Felix, but rather choose to follow Christ while you have the opportunity-none of us know what tomorrow brings. Next week God willing we will consider why Felix was "frightened" God Bless, Graeme Greenwood

Letter Via The Editor

Letter to the Plett Drivers License Testing Centre.
So, I have a question for the Plettenberg Bay Drivers Licence Testing Centre and it really is a genuine question, I am not trying to be cheeky or disrespectful, I would just really like to know the reason behind this. I am wondering why it is so vitally important to be able to reverse or parallel park a car during your driver's licence test without rolling backwards or forwards a few cm's. So many of the children are being failed before they even make it out of the testing yard because of this and they are only given one chance to get it right. If you mess up on your first try it is immediate failure. Why? I genuinely don't understand. Surely if you roll backwards or forwards a few cm's, immediately put your foot on the brake to correct yourself and then successfully manage to park this is good. I can understand these children failing if the mistakes they make during their tests are likely to endanger people's lives or cause accidents while they are on the road. But a few cm's roll while you are parking on your first try in the testing yard and then you fail. I just don't get it and to be honest, when I park in a completely new area, I might also roll a few cm's before I correct myself and I have been driving for years. Please could someone in the know explain, I would genuinely be very interested in the answer.

From a confused parent.
