Strengths Workshop Plett 2023 Kids ages 10 - 18 years

For too long parents, teachers and society have focused on identifying and fixing "kids" weaknesses to improve academic performance.

What if every child can find success in school, their relationships and life if we start focusing on the strengths they have, rather than on what they lack. Every child is beautiful, talented, and gorgeous. Its just where?

Research shows that only 2 out of 10 people get to play to their strengths. Life is too short to be one of the 8 that get stuck doing what they can just to make it through another day. Be bold and take the step.

Discovering your strengths is a rewarding process if you know what to look for. Every action respectful or defiant, in and out of the classroom, provides an opportunity to discover a person's unique set of strengths. The boy who is scolded for speaking out in class, may have untapped potential for debate. The girl who is more engaged on the tennis court than the classroom may have a hidden knack for physics. A child drawn to one activity or household chore over another is driven by natural inclinations that can be identified and applied to schoolwork.

Dr Ross will show you how to make such connections in everyday life, and in turn help kids implement the strengths they reveal in school, their relationships, life, and future career.

Parents don't we all want our children to be seen and valued for who they are and the unique gifts they bring to this world?

Cost R 900 per student – cost includes psychometric strength assessment, workshop, and parent group feedback. Strength assessment done online prior to workshop.

Date TO BE CONFIRMED...

A word fitly spoken is like APPLES OF GOLD in a setting of silver-Proverbs 25v11

The Bible has been a best seller for many years and the reason is summed up in Psalm 19v7: "The law of the LORD is perfect, refreshing the soul." Within the pages of this great book millions have found refreshment for their thirsty, weary and troubled souls because it is true and profound. Though parts of the Bible are hard to understand, even the uneducated and unsophisticated become wise by following its teaching as we read in the next verse: "The statutes of the LORD are trustworthy, making wise the simple." The Psalm continues to remind us that if we follow the Bible's teaching we are also kept from sin and all its negative consequences: "The precepts of the LORD are right, giving joy to the heart." We will also have clarity of direction and purpose if we follow God's commands: "The commands of the LORD are radiant, giving light to the eyes." Jesus summed them up in Matthew 22v37: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: "Love your neighbour as yourself." The Psalm continues: "The decrees of the LORD are firm and all of them are righteous." God does not change and so His decrees are not up for debate as they are all righteous. "They are more precious than gold, than much pure gold; they are sweeter than honey, than honey from the honeycomb. By them your servant is warned; in keeping them there is great reward." One of the great misconceptions is that so many people have is that the Bible is dry, uninteresting and old fashioned, but to those of us that love the Lord it is sweet and precious as it guides us through the minefield of life. It warns us about dangerous and anti-social behaviour, selfish hearts and pride. The Psalm continues in verse 13: "Keep your servant also from willful sins; may they not rule over me. Then I will be blameless, innocent of great transgression." Addiction is not just limited to drugs and alcohol and illicit sex and pornography. It is easy to become addicted to jealousy, greed, power and anger which destroy lives, families and friendships. If we are continually soaked in God's Word we are kept from the bondage of what the Psalmist calls great transgression. May we all be like the Psalmist and able to say: "May these words of my mouth and this meditation of my heart be pleasing in your sight, LORD, my Rock and my Redeemer."

CHATTERBOX - WET IN PLETT

What is the matter with Plett's weather and the weather report. Not one report is vaguely true and I keep on buying plants and seedlings every week. Drives Beloved nuts. All a waste of money he says every weekend. While he is breakfasting with his huge family at the Harkerville market, I am looking at every beautiful plants for sale. With water restrictions to top it all off, few of the plants survive. Beloved is in the business of lawns, trees, polo fields, golf greens that all seem to do well and then there is the failing flowers. I still have my gardener Bongani whom I wrote a lot about in the eleven years prior to my taking a break. Now Bong is my gardener because Beloved fires him on a regular basis and Bongs other name is Mr.
Armstrong because he is so strong. If I give him a tree to cut down he can do it in minutes, and cut it up and bag it. About seven years ago he arrived here with a big smile on his face. "I have had a baby girl!" Much astonishment between Annie and I, we never new he had a wife in Malawi, nor that she was pregnant. I gave him a long lecture about the cost of living nowadays.
Nappies (one thing they had not thought of.) Then food, babies medical, clothing and schooling! Her name is Favour.
Since I started writing the script that was a week ago and since then we've had 87mm of rain. We are completely drenched and waterlogged,, especially as we live on clay.
Our animals which consist of our Yorkshire terrier called Cassie and one cat called Tom, and another cat called Brandy, none of who remember rain. Going outside for them is such a horrifying experience they go out for a minute and then the back inside the house and then they do all the usual business all over the house. Added to that is washing for Africa all soaking wet and strong smelling around the house like a Chinese laundry. So I've lost my interest in tidying the house because usually I would not let it get into the state but honestly right now and I seem to be repeating the jobs that I did 10 minutes ago. Don't get me wrong I'm very pleased about the rain and I'm sure that this week will be bright and sunny and I will watch for the rain again.

I have walked into the lounge 20 times in the last few days only to discover another let's not a pile of you know what that I have to clean up. That means all the manicures that I've had done have gone to pot and I have to start them all over again. I think that for now I will say goodbye and start my new week with a much better outlook than the way I started this one , lots of love chatterbox.
